

Friday 19, February 2010 Update #3

Previous Updates –

Update # 1, posted on 7 February 2010 for background and process information.

Update # 2, posted on 12 February 2010 for background and process information.

Recovery work has continued at the Hotel Montana and surrounding building. Specialized teams from Canada, United States, and Mexico continue to deconstruct the buildings and recover loved ones and their property. Since the Sunday, 12 February Update, an additional 12 loved ones have been recovered, for a total of 58. With regard to those 58, the following has occurred:

Transfers to National Governments
French Government Custody	5
Canadian Government Custody	5
United States Government Custody	15
Identified and Released
Colombian	1
Haitian	5
Dutch	1
Identified and Not Released
Haitian	6
Unidentified (W/ Kenyon)	20

While the numbers of loved ones recovered has decreased over this period the pace of work has not. Quite often in building deconstruction there are periods of decreased recovery. Crews are maintaining careful vigilance and focus. Please note also that portions of the Hotel Montana collapsed onto surrounding buildings. These loved ones have been recovered and are reflected in the above chart.

Families and friends should continue to stay in contact with their governments. Please understand that even though a government has taken custody of deceased there is still a formal identification and repatriation process that must be completed. This often takes several days to complete.

While some Haitian families have contacted us, we urge those who may have loved ones missing to contact us, so we can identify and release their loved ones also.

While Kenyon does not normally release specific names, we want to ensure, along with all other parties that are involved in this process that the fullest possible accounting is made. Therefore, if you believe your loved one was or could have been in the Hotel Montana, and you are not a citizen of the USA, Canada or France, and are not listed below please contact us or your National Government because we have no information or records to use to identify your loved one.

Mr. Gregory McAlpin
Mr. Rosemond James
Mr. Siegfried J. Francisco

Again, we have not listed Canadian, Colombian, French or American Nationals because their governments have or had teams on site and have also been invited to review the loved ones in Kenyon's custody.

If you believe your loved one was in the Montana and not a national citizen of those countries please contact us via hotelmontana@kenyoninternational.com.

Personal Belongings-

A large number of suitcases and other luggage have and are being collected and stored. Kenyon is noting any names on these and providing those names to National Governments that have requested it. Many governments have begun retrieving these precious belongings.

Kenyon is on site because our (non-government) client would like to ensure their deceased staff and families are recovered and indentified, some of whom were at the Hotel Montana. Typically this is a government function. No single government has taken responsibility for the overall process, only for those they believe to be their citizens.

For those individuals and all who have lost loved ones in Haiti, Kenyon expresses our deepest sympathies. We are very sorry.
